PEACE PLEA BY F. D. R.

BRITAIN'S 'LAST' NOTE

'KEEP PEACE', ROOSEVELT PLEA TO HITLER, BENES

Roosevelt's Plea to Hitler

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's message today to Adolf Hitler and President Benes of Czechoslovakia follows:

The fabric of peace on the continent of Europe, if not throughout the rest of the world, is in immediate danger.

The consequences of its rupture are incalculable. Should hostilities break out the lives of millions of men, women and children in every country involved will most certainly be lost under circumstances of unspeakable horror.

The economic system of every country involved is certain to be shattered. The social structure of every country involved may well be completely wrecked.

The United States has no political entanglements. It is caught in no mesh of hatred. Elements of all Europe have formed its civilization.

The supreme desire of the American people is to live in peace. But in the event of a general war they face the fact that no nation can escape some measure of the consequences of such a world catastrophe.

The traditional policy of the United States has been the futherance of the settlement of international disputes by pacific means.

It is my conviction that all people under the threat of war today pray that peace may be made before, rather than after, war.

It is imperative that peoples everywhere recall that every civilized nation of the world voluntarily assumed the solemn obligations of the Kellogg-Briand pact of 1928 to solve controversies only by pacific methods.

In addition, most nations are parties to other binding treaties obligating them to preserve peace. Furthermore, all countries have today available for such peaceful solution of difficulties which may arise, treaties of arbitration and conciliation to which they are parties.

Whatever may be the differences in the contro-

TO OUR PATRONS

We very much regret that it was impossible for the Railroads to postpone the date of their fall passenger train schedules in line with the plan to extend daylight saving for one week.

Our timetables containing the usual one hour changes which are made at the end of daylight saving had been widely distributed to the public, connecting railroads and operating employees before the plan to extend daylight saving was considered. We must follow the new schedules in the interest of safe operation and the earliest possible restoration of normal train service throughout New England and to points beyond.

We hope that no serious inconvenience will result and ask your forbearance in this difficult situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (INS)—In a dramatic last-hour attempt to prevent Europe being engulfed by a war of "unspeakable horror," President Roosevelt today lifted his voice in direct appeal to the two men on whose fateful decisions hangs the peace of a continent, and perhaps of the world.

Sleepless, haunted by fear the die might be cast within a few hours that would bring death to millions and blast Europe's cities from the face of the earth, the President sat in his study at the White House after midnight and penned a historic plea to Chancellor Hitler of Germany and President Benes of Czechoslovakia.

He broke a silence he had steadfastly, determinedly maintained throughout the European crisis.

The President's peace message was applauded in foreign embassies and legations in the capital as a stroke of genius and bold statesmanship.

Calls Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—President Roosevelt decided today to hold a special cabinet meeting tomorrow to consider the crisis in Europe.

White House aides said the cabinet session had been moved up from Friday to Tuesday because of conditions abroad.

The President, they added, was keeping in touch with reports from Europe as they came in, minute by minute.

PEACE HOPES

They said it went far to dispel the pall of fear and pessimism that descended after the breakup of the Godesburg conversation between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Chancellor Hitler.

For the moment, at least, the hope for peace again was in the ascendant.

The President sliced through diplomatic formality and red tape. Man-to-man, he sent his urgent appeal to Hitler and Benes.

Simultaneously, Secretary Hull sped the historic missive to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Daladier of France. The President said:

"On behalf of the 130 millions of people of the United States of America and for the sake of humanity everywhere, I most earnestly appeal to you not to break off negotiations looking to a peaceful, fair and constructive settlement of the questions at issue.

"REASON BANISHED"

"So long as these negotiations continue, so long will there remain the hope that reason and the spirit of equity may prevail and that the world may thereby escape the madness of a new resort to war.

"I earnestly repeat that so long as negotiations continue differences may be reconciled. Once they are broken off reason is banished, and force asserts itself.

"And force produces no solution for the future good of humanity."

BRONXVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—J. Fletcher Farrell, vice-president, treasurer and director of the Consolidated Oil Corporation, died at his home last night after a long illness.

Faith and Patriotism Foundations for Peace

THE SIGNIFICANT observance of National Religious Education Week in the United States, with concluding services in the churches of the nation next Sunday, has marked the fundamental SPIRITUAL CONTRAST between this country and European nations.

As a natural consequence of the widespread threat of war throughout the world, the keynote of the observance has been expression of the desire for peace.

Americans, of course, are not alone in desiring and PRAYING FOR peace.

With all the hysterical clamor for war in Europe, there is an undoubted dread of war and terror in its contemplation. Europe, too, is praying for peace, with earnest supplications in all places of worship for Divine intervention in the troubled affairs of the Continent.

BUT MARK this DIFFERENCE in the United States.

Americans are trying to DESERVE peace.

They are striving to preserve the wholesome spirit of BROTHERHOOD in their country, and to purge their hearts and minds of rancor and hate as well as of fear and terror.

European hearts and minds are flaming with hatred, prejudice and thoughts of vengeance, even while they pray for peace.

American hearts and minds are filled with the DESIRE and the HOPE and the DETERMINATION as well that we should be a tolerant and a just people.

We do not bespeak peace alone, but seek to perpetuate our right and ability to dwell as a peaceful people in a peaceful land.

It is a splendid enterprise, and a patriotic contribution of supreme importance, that the churches of the United States should join in strengthening the SPIRITUAL FOUNDATION of our national aspiration for peace.

It is the duty and the obligation of the churches to give our people SPIRITUAL LEADERSHIP, with complete forgetfulness of race and creed.

OUR PLACES of worship are serving a DIVINE PURPOSE, in giving us the unity of spiritual and patriotic brotherhood, without intolerance and injustice which nullify all desires and prayers for peace in other lands.

Brotherhood is not a matter of creed, but a matter of human conduct and conscience, and there should be unity among all religions in educating the people to respect all sincere religion and oppose growing tendencies toward irreligion and intolerance.

It is an urgent necessity that the people should practice and abide by the basic American principles of understanding and brotherhood, and an equal necessity that the religions in which the people have confidence and express their faith should be united in giving guidance and direction to that expression.

Certainly Religious Education Week comes at a fortunate time.

With much of the civilized world priming itself for a CARNIVAL OF HATE, Americans are renewing their faith in God and their love of country, and finding their inspiration for continued amicable relations between all our people.

CZECH MACHINE GUNNERS—READY FOR WAR

STAGE IS SET—Will the curtain rise? This self-explanatory map charts the comparative man-power and air strength of the European nations which most likely will be thrown into war in the event the Czech-German crisis is not settled. The figures are based on the latest data, held most reliable by the War Department in this country.

Britain Calls Parliament; Plea to Hitler

LONDON, Sept. 26 (AP) — Britain and France sped a trusted envoy today to Adolf Hitler with a last-stand message while Prime Minister Chamberlain summoned Parliament to rally and reassure his people for either war or peace.

French Premier Eduard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet started home by airplane after a night and day of councils with Chamberlain and his ministers that resulted in a firm, united accord on two vital courses of action:

1. A last attempt to stop Hitler from invading Czechoslovakia and touching off a war;
2. Joint British-French military measures—how they move men, warships and airplanes to the fighting lines if they are drawn into war.

U. S. PLEA AIDS CAUSE

A personal appeal by President Roosevelt to Hitler to save Europe's peace came amid the momentous conferences and gave Europe's democracies enormous moral stiffening.

Behind them the French premier and foreign minister left the French chief of staff, General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, to work out the co-ordination of France's fighting units with Britain's for any eventuality.

Chamberlain's summons to Parliament was for Wednesday.

Naval, military and aerial precautions, meanwhile, assumed almost wartime dimensions in the Mediterranean.

British warships dotted North Sea lanes.

The first of Britain's 35,000,000 gas masks were issued.

Before Daladier and Bonnet took off from Croydon airdrome the French premier sent a grateful reply to President Roosevelt's peace message.

British air raid precautions authorities appealed urgently for recruits. Rumbling trucks bore balloon barrage equipment—London's sky barricade against air attack—to position.

At least one industrial city ordered parks dug up for air raid refuges.

World Plunges On to War!

Once again the world awaited a Hitler speech (scheduled for late today) as the key to the fate of an almost completely mobilized Europe. Every Nazi was ORDERED to listen.

President Roosevelt made a dramatic, direct plea to Reichsfeuhrer Hitler and President Benes of Czechoslovakia to continue negotiations, avoid a war of "unspeakable horror." (Copies to Britain, France.)

Chamberlain also made a final, "last-stand," direct appeal to Hitler, believed to incorporate the warning that Hitler's new demands were not acceptable either to France or Britain.

Mussolini, in another outburst, urged Franco-British complete abandonment of the Czechs as the only way to avoid war.

King and Queen of England and the little princesses were fitted with gas masks. And trenches were dug in the public parks of London and Paris.

Britain began evacuation of women and children from her embassy and consular staffs in Berlin.

British parliament called for Wednesday.

French and British mapped actual war operations, with France to direct all troop movements, Britain to direct the combined air forces.

American embassy in Paris told all United States citizens who could to "go home."

Konrad Henlein, fugitive Sudeten Nazi leader, returned to Sudeten land briefly to review the "front line" of his Free Corps.

Prague, silenced since the Czechs' last ultimatum, awaited attack by Germany—fearing it would take place before the October 1 deadline.

HOPKINS OFFERS FULL AID

Virtually unlimited money and manpower were pledged today for rehabilitation of disaster-smitten New England.

Conferring at the Copley-Plaza hotel with National WPA Director Harry Hopkins, governors of the six states hardest hit by hurricane and flood hoped to obtain immediate promise of at least $75,000,000 in federal funds.

First announcement by Hopkins was:

"Every emergency need will be met."

He said further that all WPA projects in the disaster area would be put on emergency basis.

This meant, he said, that all ordinary WPA regulations would be waived, all able-bodied men would be put to work, and that no restriction would be placed on the number of hours' work per week for which individuals could be paid.

WILL SPEED WORK

Holding the purse strings on the nation's most potent money-spending agency, WPA Chief Hopkins made clear, from the beginning of today's conference, his determination to go the limit in putting New England back on its feet as speedily as possible.

"This is no time for false pride about who does what," he said.

"The need must be met. The work must be done now."

Governor Hurley, first of the New England executives to outline his state's needs, appealed for immediate cutting of WPA red tape.

"We learned a valuable lesson in the flood of 1936," he said.

"First step now should be to give town and city heads authority to go full steam ahead to meet local needs.

BLANKET PROJECTS

"Blanket projects should be approved and the details of the work and the expenditures determined as progress is made.

"Selectmen of towns should be allowed to get their unemployed on WPA pay rolls immediately.

"Under general direction of WPA supervisors, working crews should get started at once on the tremendous task of opening highways, clearing away debris and restoring communication.

"The Federal Housing Administration should make funds immediately available for loans to home owners and farmers for permanent repairs and building construction."

Governor George Aiken, Vermont, said loss in his state would amount to a total between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000.

The maple sugar industry was hard hit, he said, and owners of timber felled would be financially ruined, unless government aid were given to make possible "normal" marketing of millions of feet of this lumber.

More than 300 persons were present at the conference. Size of the gathering made necessary use of Copley Plaza's big ballroom as an assembly place.

LEADERS ATTEND

Among those who attended, in addition to the governors, were WPA regional directors, National Guard heads, Brigadier General Cummings, representing the U. S. Army; Farm Bureau Federation secretaries from several states, Executive Vice-President Dudley Harmon of the New England Council, railroad and public utility experts, Boston Health Commissioner H. F. R. Watts, U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and several congressmen.

The latter included Congressman Arthur D. Healy, Somerville; George Bates, Salem, and Edith Nourse Rogers, Lowell.

Mayors of a score of Massachusetts cities attended.

Administrator Hopkins, in a brief opening speech, told of his tour of the devastated areas.

"I saw in progress the sad work of recovering still more bodies," he said. "I saw men and women seeking their missing loved ones. I saw others mourning their dead.

"I want to pay tribute to that great, heroic unnamed group—the thousands of good neighbors who have unhesitatingly and unstintingly opened their homes and pocketbooks to aid the distressed and the shelterless.

"And I want to say that in an emergency of this magnitude, all resources, private, public, state and federal must be mobilized swiftly and each bear a share of the load.

"There should be no false pride about who does what."

Meantime, even as the conference was in progress, rehabilitation and relief work were being intensively carried on along a far-flung disaster front.

ARRIVE FOR PARLEY

As the sun rose over the devastated area today the death list was officially set by Red Cross, state police officers, National Guardsmen and other agencies throughout New England at 735, with 598 bodies of men, women and children identified.

More than 300 other persons were unaccounted for, and the authorities conceded that many of these must be regarded as having perished.

The request for at least $75,000,000 was learned as the various governors arrived for the conference with Hopkins.

Massachusetts WPA Administrator John J. McDonough already had requested $15,000,000 for immediate needs.

Governor Francis J. Murphy of New Hampshire declared he would seek a similar amount.

Governor Robert E. Quinn asked $25,000,000 for Rhode Island.

Another $20,000,000 was sought for Vermont and Connecticut.

The Red Cross took full responsibility for rehabilitating disaster victims.

The military was still in stern control in southeastern and western Massachusetts and many parts of Rhode Island where looters were reported preying on victims. The ban on visitors to all badly-damaged areas was continued.

The New England Council, through its president, James W. Hook, today declared that now is the time to begin the flood control program.

The hazard of fire today was added to New England's woes.

Both Massachusetts and New Hampshire have miles of leveled forests, mostly evergreens which dry quickly and could become a conflagration matching in horror that of the hurricane and flood.

Western Massachusetts has an area 50 miles wide and 42 miles long, from Petersham and Athol on the north to the Connecticut border on the south, which is a serious fire menace.

Storm Area Ban on Only Route 20

The special emergency commission established at the State House because of flood and hurricane conditions today announced that passes for motorists will be required only on Route 20—Worcester to Springfield—starting tomorrow.

Over the week-end, the southeast and western portions of the state were completely pass bound."

JOKE OF THE HURRICANE—With a fine disregard for railroads and boats, the hurricane brought the two together at Stonington Ct., when the crack flier Bostonian was derailed and a yacht was poised on the tracks.

Troops Leaving Cape Areas

Gradual reduction in the National Guard forces on duty on Cape Cod and in western Massachusetts was in progress today as 2000 militiamen were recalled to their home armories.

Only 1500 have been left in the hurricance-stricken areas to supervise reclamation and rescue work.

Col. Porter B. Chase, commander of the force, said rapidly improving conditions in the area permitted withdrawal of the troops and that passes are no longer necessary for motorists except on the Worcester-Springfield road.

Some time today all the boats that have been tossing about in the harbors will be rounded up and held for identification. There are hundreds.

Railroad section crews were hard at work restoring the trackage destroyed by the hurricane.

'Candlelight Era' Due to End Soon

Greater Boston's hurricanse-fostered "candlelight era" was fast approaching an end today, according to Boston Edison Company officials.

More than 200 expert trouble shooters and 25 fully equipped service trucks from points as far away as Baltimore and Philadelphia have been rushed here to assist servicemen in this section.

Extra crews were working in the following districts today:

Forty men and six trucks in the Brookline-Newton area.

Forty five men and six trucks in the Winchester-Woburn-Arlington areas.

Other trucks and crews in Canton, Sharon, Walpole, Millis, Norfolk, Bellingham, Medway, Natick and Framingham.

End Profiteering In Storm Areas

Profiteering in food and fuel has been stopped in stricken areas of Massachusetts, Richard Olney, commissioner on the necessaries of life, reported today.

He warned housewives may expect a slight increase in prices of fresh vegetables for a few days, but added the supply due will soon restore normal prices.

Safety Warning To Boat Owners

Boat owners were warned not to sail their craft until sure they were not dangerously strained or otherwise damaged by flood or hurricane.

R. E. Coombs, Boston head of the U. S. Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, said:

"Many boats, apparently undamaged have been badly strained by wind and sea. Search should be made for possible gasoline leaks and safety equipment checked over carefully.

"It should also be remembered that floating trees and sunken wrecks now constitute a temporary menace to navigation."

Submerged Cars Hunted for Bodies

WEST HAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 26 (AP)—Two divers began an underwater search of Moriches Bay today for bodies of additional victims of last Wednesday's hurricane, which left 24 dead and 14 missing in this resort community on Long Island's South Shore.

Aerial observers had counted at least 100 automobiles resting on the bottom of the bay—swept there by huge waves and it was feared that some of the persons still to be accounted for might be found in the sunken cars.

New Haven Blast Injures 5 Workers

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 26 (INS)—Five workers were injured, two of them perhaps fatally, in an explosion of dust particles in the burnishing room of the National Folding Box Company where the men were at work finishing boxes.

Reported dying in New Haven hospital were Archangelo Annunciao, 54, and Angelo Affinato, 27.

Medford Schools Closed Day More

R. I. Asks 25 Millions Flood Aid; Loss Leaps

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 26—Rhode Island's toll of hurricane dead neared 400 today as thousands of volunteer workers dug through debris of 1500 demolished cottages along the shore line from Westerly to Point Judith.

Hope of speedy rehabilitation rested in today's conference at Boston of New England governors with WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, who was to consider Governor Robert E. Quinn's request for $25,000,000 in federal funds.

This amount was suggested to the WPA head here after he had made an air and motor survey of damage in company with Quinn.

Meanwhile, all the coastal area of Rhode Island was an armed camp, with militiamen halting every sightseer and Red Cross ambulances speeding through the devastated area.

Looting was added to the trouble of authorities today, with five WPA workers held in $500 each for the grand jury on charges of larceny. The trio, arrested in the Charlestown area, were taken to Providence county jail in lieu of bail.

Every resident at Westerly, Warren, Bristol and Barrington is being inoculated against typhoid.

Property damage continues to soar into untold millions. At Misquamicut, a total of $1,300,000 in valuation was wiped out on a single street where hotels and large homes were tumbled into kindling and bricks in a few moments.

After a 100-mile motor trip over deoris-strewn towns, Hopkins left for the momentous conference in Boston without commenting on how much money Rhode Island may be allotted for reclamation work.

He did say that all necessary funds would be granted.

"This emergency calls for the united efforts of local, state and federal governments," he said. "These roads must be cleared and repaired. The lives of these stricken people must be brought back to something approaching normal."

Hurricane Loss Tax Exemption

Internal revenue officials today stated that property owners whose home or other properties were damaged b the hurricane may deduct their losses when making out income tax returns next year. Section 23 of the revenue act of 1938 makes this provision:

Mail Brought By Warship

The postal freight, numbering 14,000 sacks in all, was taken aboard at New York, where it had been accumulating since the hurricane and floods disrupted railway mail schedules.

Armed guards, under direction of Chief Postal Inspector John J. Breslin, supervised unloading of the cargo and conveyed it uptown.

A fleet of 42 mail trucks, supervised by Assistant Postmaster John P. Feeney, was assigned for the transfer.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Francis J. Buckley, Washington, escorted the cargo on the Wyoming from New York.

Captain Newton L. Nichols, in command of the battleship, said the vessel would enter dry dock here immediately for engineering repairs and sail again October 1.

Red Cross Relief Speeded Here

Citizens fortunate enough to escape injury damage during the hurricane, today rallied to support the Red Cross drive for special funds to care for refugees and start rehabilitation work.

"INDICATIONS"—Here is Walter Huston, who plays the peg-legged Peter Stuyvesant in "Knickerbocker Holiday" which opens tomorrow night at the Shubert theater, shown with "Fraulein," pet dachshund, and Mrs. Huston, who is Nan Sutherland, the popular Broadway star, playing "Indications," the parlor game, at their suite in the Ritz-Carlton hotel after their harrowing experiences in the Hartford flood.

Flood to Actor Huston Just Like an 'Adventure'

Eight-and-a-half hours out of flood-stricken Hartford, where the new Maxwell Anderson-Kurt Weill musical, "Knickerbocker Holiday," was previewed Saturday night, Walter Huston, the play's distinguished star, the authors and their wives last night light-heartedly played "Indications" at the Ritz-Carlton

"Just a natural reaction," Mr. Huston explained, "from the discomforts we've been living through and the misery and destruction we've been observing these past few days. A great disaster such as New England has just endured is a great leveller, particularly for our company who were inconvenienced so slightly compared to the suffering and loss sustained by those living in the flood and hurricane area.

"For us the experience was more in the nature of adventure than anything else. It carried me back to my vaudeville days when doing without was these motif of my design for living. With Hartford's electricity cut off, we had to walk three flights up, carrying our luggage, to our candle-lit hotel-rooms.

"The Connecticut river was rising when we arrived, and the police had to row us to the hotel. Only they didn't know how and we had to do the rowing.

BY COURTESY OF FIREMEN

"Saturday afternoon we rehearsed in a theater flood-lighted by the courtesy of the Hartford fire department. They brought up the emergency equipment in a truck."

According to Mr. Huston, stricken Hartford gallantly rose to the occasion, filling the theater at the opening and warmly responding to the new musical.

Mr. Huston, who was a song-and-dance man in his early vaudeville days, does some excellent singing in his first musical. Director Joshua Logan, who also directed "I Married an Angel" and "On Borrowed Time," confides:

The song the man who has played Lincoln likes best is one that two other fellows in the cast sing. It is "That's How You Tell an American" and "You're Going to Like It," is Walter Huston's impulsive promise.

Dramatist Anderson, who had never written a musical comedy, reveals that the thing he liked best about "Knickerbocker Holiday" from the start was—and is—Kurt Weill's music.

Composer Weill, on the other hand, admits freely that he was a pushover for Maxwell Anderson's book and lyrics on sight.

Tomorrow night's opening, first production of the Playwrights Producing Company, will assemble in the Hub's Shubert Theater, a notable assortment of Broadway celebrities including the producing company's five sponsors. They are Elmer S. N. Behrman, Sidney Howard, Robert E. Sherwood and Maxwell Anderson.

Killed by Live Wire In Storm Cleanup

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 26—(AP)—New Hampshire's latest death as the result of the hurricane was listed today as that of Joseph R. Belmont, 43, father of four, electrocuted as he was repairing electric light wires. He touched a wire carrying 2300 volts.

Raise 'Love Bird' Ban on Transports

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—Without trace of a smile, the War Department announced today it has lifted its ban on "parrots, parrakeets, love birds and other birds of the parrot family" on army transports.

DON'T LET YOUR NERVES GET TIRED, UPSET!

Irish Setter

Native of Ireland. Believed to be a cross of English setter, spaniel and pointer. Originally red and white in coloring. Today's standards call for solid mahogany red or rich golden chestnut. Essentially a gun dog. Bold, hardy, yet remarkably gentle nature. Noted for long life.

He's giving his nerves a rest...and so is she

THE DOG pictured above is relaxing—resting his nerves. He has a nervous system amazingly similar to yours, with this difference: It is the nature of the dog to rest when he needs rest. It is the nature of mankind to drive on until nerves jerk and twitch... until you are cross and irritable ...tired out without knowing it.

No matter which form of tenseness you feel, try this: Ease up and enjoy a Camel. Camels can be your frequent reminder to take time out. Camels are made from costlier tobaccos. They are so mild and comforting. Smokers find that "Let up—light up a Camel" puts more zest into life, and that Camel's costlier tobaccos soothe their nerves.

MILLIONS FIND

"Let up—light up a Camel" puts more joy into living

Terrell Jacobs, lion trainer, and "Tony" Concello, circus aerialist (right), both "Let up—light up a Camel." "Animals can spring into instant action—then relax," says Jacobs. "We are different—apt to get our nerves all wound up with our tense way of living—can't let go. I find that Camels soothe my nerves." "Terrell's right," Miss Concello says. "When my nerves are tired, a Camel helps them to rest."

DID YOU KNOW:

—that one tablespoon of tobacco seed will sow 100 yards? One hundred sq. yds. of bed give from 10,000 to 15,000 plants for transplanting into the fields.

From the selection of the seed, right down to the day of harvest, Camel tobacco experts watch the development of the crop in each locality. The Camel cigarette buyers know where the mild, choice, aromatic tobacco is. And they buy accordingly.

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS —Turkish and Domestic

Fred L. McDaniel, cowboy (right), says: "When I feel nervously upset, I let up, and light up a soothing Camel. Camels are mild—I can smoke 'em steadily. They are so comforting, and never tire my taste."

Pick Jurors At Trial of 2 In Fatal Holdup

Murder charges against Henry Richards, 21, Malden, were nolle prossed by the state today just before he and Wallace W. Greene, 21, and Walter St. Sauveur, 22, both of Somerville, were to go on trial before Judge Wilford D. Gray in Middlesex superior criminal court, East Cambridge.

The move left Greene and St. Sauveur standing trial alone. Richards still faces a charge of having been an accessory after the fact.

Greene and St. Sauveur are charged with murder of William Phillips, East Somerville spa owner, the night of May 21 when Phillips resisted a holdup.

A venire of 100 prospective jurymen was on hand when the trial opened.

First jurors chosen were:

Frank E. Gardner of Pepperell, a farmer.

James H. Monahan of Waltham, a gasoline filling station employe.

Thomas E. Norton of Lincoln, an accountant.

Richards and St. Sauveur, alias Walter Scott, were arrested in Salt Lake City and brought back here for trial. Greene was picked up later.

The prosecution is being conducted by Assistant District Attorney William T. McCloskey. Attorneys Robert E. McCarthy, George E. Lourie and Edward J. Bushel are representing the defendants.

Gas Ablaze, Driver Hero

Thirty-three hundred gallons of gasoline, aboard a huge trailer truck, caught fire on the Newburyport turnpike in Lynnfield today.

Motorists in a near panic jammed on their brakes or speeded to get as far as possible from the flaming truck, expecting an explosion momentarily.

Hero of the occasion was the truck driver, Elmer Watts, 47, Appleton street, Arlington. Watts jumped in with a hand fire-extinguisher. Then, when he saw he could not extinguish the blaze, he risked possible death by staying to open the vents in the truck tank, allowing the flaming gasoline to run out harmlessly into the highway.

Fire apparatus arrived shortly thereafter, but traffic had to be rerouted until the gasoline flooding the highway burned itself out.

Water Makes New Sacks Stronger

TOKYO (AP)—After four years of research, Dr. JunJi Torii, a chemist, is said to have perfected a new type of heavy paper for use in sacks which resists water and sand better than hemp or leather.

Ice Cream Ruins Love Of Longos

Mrs. Edith Janet Longo today "definitely" repudiated her love for her husband, Paul J. Longo of Winchester, on the witness stand before Judge Arthur Beane in Middlesex probate court.

And, one might hasten to add, the goldfish have nothing to do with it—this time.

"Do you love your husband now?" Mrs. Longo was asked at one point in her testimony.

"No," she replied.

"Do you want to go back and live with him?"

"No," she said again, adding: "Definitely not!"

Today was not Mrs. Longo's first appearance in Middlesex probate court, nor before Judge Beane. In September, 1936, she was before Judge Beane seeking a divorce.

That was the time she charged Paul was cruel to her because, she testified, he was cruel to her goldfish.

That divorce attempt failed. She went back to him in January, 1937, she testified today.

Then there was a baby.

A week after the baby was born, Mrs. Longo testified today, guests came and she sent her husband out for ice cream. He returned with it, but because she gave him a little less than she gave the others he threw the dish against the wall and walked out of the house, she declared.

On another occasion, in July, 1937, she stated, he put her dress and coat in the kitchen sink and turned on the water. She testified he was angry because she was going to see her mother.

He struck her on a number of occasions, she said, and she left him again, finally, in November.

The hearing is still going on.

FEWER STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The labor department said today there were 1353 strikes in the first seven months of this year compared to 3217 in the same period of 1937.

Ninth District Recount Begins

A recount of Democratic votes cast for the nomination of congressman in the 9th Congressional District was begun today.

Dennis M. Cronin is challenging the count for Thomas H. Eliot, grandson of President Eliot of Harvard, who won the nomination with a plurality of only 223.

In Cambridge, where Eliot received 4815 votes to Cronin's 3962 according to primary day returns, the recount this forenoon showed a difference of 5 votes in favor of Cronin.

Watchers from Cronin's headquarters were not present until the afternoon session. They said they did not receive notice of the recount until this morning, although election officials said the notices were sent out Friday.

PARIS DIGS IN FOR WAR

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 26 — With an estimated 2,000,000 men now under arms in France, further mobilization orders were quietly passed out today.

Police, it was learned, are visiting men of military age and giving them mobilization papers bearing the conscription class numbers two and three.

Thus Saturday's partial call to arms is being exceeded without the issuance of any new general orders.

Newspapers today were filled with instructions on how the city's populace should act in case of air raids, and elaborate details of how Paris is to be evacuated are being printed.

PARIS DIGGING IN

Construction of trenches in Paris parks began this morning.

All through the week-end and all day today packed trains kept rolling out of Paris, carrying grim-visaged conscripts to cantonments back of the Maginot line. Similar scenes were witnessed in every town and city in the country.

Paris tested its air-raid "black-out" system last night in several important boulevards. All lights were doused except the newly-installed dim blue bulbs on some thoroughfares.

Indignation over the demands which Hitler has made to Czechoslovakia was keen in all French quarters today. Government quarters confirmed that both Prague and France have found Germany's latest terms inacceptable.

WANTS ALL FORTS

France especially opposed Hitler's insistence that all Czechoslovakian fortifications in Sudetenland be turned over intact—even though Hitler refused to participate in any international guarantee of Czechoslovakia's future security.

Another French cabinet meeting probably will be held tonight as soon as Premier Daladier arrives from London.

While it was officially stated that the cabinet is unanimously back of Daladier, rumors say a cabinet of national concentration, representing all major political parties, will be formed so that a solid political front can be presented to Germany.

France Set To Attack, Is Report

LONDON, Sept. 26 (INS)—France has decided to fight Germany the day the German army invades Czechoslovakia, the diplomatic correspondent of the Evening Standard said today.

He asserted this decision was reached as the result of the conversations between the heads of the British and French governments which closed in London today.

Daladier Tells Roosevelt Peace Being Pressed

LONDON, Sept. 26 (INS)—Premier Edouard Daladier of France dispatched a personal reply to President Roosevelt's peace message just before leaving London for Paris today.

Daladier's reply was handed to United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy at 3:05 p. m. (10:05 a. m. Boston Time) and transmitted to Washington immediately.

The message read:

"Your moving appeal reached me in London at the very moment when I was in close cooperation with the British Government.

"France is making a supreme attempt with a view to safeguarding all possibility of an amicable settlement of the conflict threatening peace.

"It is of special value to me that under your high moral authority and the devotion of the entire American nation, the principles which have been recognized and publicly acknowledged by all parties to the Kellogg Pact have now been solemnly reaffirmed.

"Remaining faithful to both the spirit and letter of these pledges, we continue with unfailing tenacity to look for any procedure for formal agreements which may be compatible with the dignity and vital interests of the nations involved.

"We trust thus to serve to the last the ideal of justice and peace which has always been a link between our two nations."

Abandon Czechs Duce Demands

VERONA, Italy, Sept. 26 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today advised France and Britain to save Europe from war by leaving Czechoslovakia to her fate.

He suggested in a speech before 47,000 Fascists that war might thus be entirely averted, since Czechoslovakia perhaps would recognize the futility of fighting Germany alone.

Il Duce implied he saw no reason for resistance to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's demands.

"The German memorandum does not deviate from the line which was approved at the London meeting," he declared, referring to Hitler's Godesberg memorandum and the Anglo-French proposals previously submitted to the Prague government.

"There are still several days to reach a peaceful solution," he declared. "If this is not achieved, it is almost beyond human power to prevent a conflict."

Directing his speech at Italy's "adversaries," he declared that "a new Europe" might be created this week.

Britain Calling Her Troops Home

SHANGHAI Sept. 26 (INS)—Because of the European crisis, Britain is withdrawing most of her troops from Shanghai today, it was learned.

British and French authorities are preparing to abandon the International Settlement and the French Concession, turning its administration over to neutral American officials.

Americans Told To Leave France

PARIS, Sept. 26 (AP)—The American embassy in Paris today advised all American citizens to return to the United States if they were able to do so.

Amid the darkest war clouds of many days, the embassy notice said:

"The American embassy today is addressing the following notice to American citizens residing in France:

"In view of the complicated situation prevailing in Europe it is considered advisable to recommend that American citizens who have no compelling reasons to continue their sojourn here arrange to return to the United States."

Americans already have begun the exodus.

Britons Flee Berlin

BULLETIN

LONDON, Sct. 26 (INS)—Italian circles in close contact with Berlin believe Hitler, in his speech tonight, may refer to the possibility of a general European agreement, the Exchange Telegraph reported from Rome today. The dispatch said Hitler may propose a four-power conference.

BERLIN, Sept. 26 (AP) - Arrangements were made today for all women and children of the British embassy and consulate staffs here to leave Berlin at 11 p. m. (6 p. m. E.S.T.).

There were no indications of softening of Germany's attitude toward Czechoslavakia.

A semi-official source declared that Chancellor Hitler's demands embodied in his memorandum of September 23 were "final."

Hitler's Talk Given to Hub Over Radio

Hitler's broadcast to the German nation today is being carried by the Columbia and National Broadcasting chains to the United States at 2 p m Standard Time or 3 p m Daylight Time.

In Boston the address itself is being carried only by station WEEI. Station WBZ is transmitting the English translation at 3:15 p. m. Standard Time, or 4:15 p. m. Daylight Time.

CZECHS SPURN NAZI TERMS

Ready To War

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PRAGUE, Sept. 26—The Czechoslovak government this afternoon drafted a new note to Adolf Hitler rejecting as unacceptable Germany's ultimatum for immediate surrender of the Sudetenland.

The note was being handed to Basil Newton, British minister here, for transmission to Hitler in time for him to study it before he addresses the German nation in his "historic manifestation" speech late today.

versies at issue, and however difficult of pacific settlement they may be, I am persuaded that there is no problem so difficult or so pressing for solution that it can not be justly solved by the resort to reason rather than by the resort to force.

During the present crisis the people of the United States and their government have earnestly hoped that the negotiations for the adjustment of the controversy which has now arisen in Europe might reach a successful conclusion.

So long as these negotiations continue so long will there remain the hope that reason and the spirit of equity may prevail and that the world may thereby escape the madness of a new resort to war.

On behalf of the 130 millions of people of the United States of America and for the sake of humanity everywhere I most earnestly appeal to you not to break off negotiations looking to a peaceful, fair, and constructive settlement of the questions at issue.

I earnestly repeat that so long as negotiations continue, differences may be reconciled. Once they are broken off reason is banished and force asserts itself.

And force produces no solution for the future good of humanity.

Britain Calls Parliament

[illegible]berlain's personal message to Hitler.

Sir Horace sometimes called the prime minister's one-man brain trust and sometimes his "office boy"—was with Chamberlain at the dismal parting from the Fuehrer in Godesberg last Friday night.

Britain, of course, kept secret what Sir Horace was taking back to Hitler now that the Czechoslovaks seem certain to reject the [illegible].

But there were these reported possibilities.

1—A fervent appeal to Hitler to leave the door open to peaceful settlement.

2—Suggestions for an alternative to the ultimatum which would let Hitler show his troops to some part of Sudetenland and yet prevent certain strangulation of the rest of Czechoslovakia.

3—A flat notice that Britain and France would not push Prague into acceptance of the ultimatum.

THREATENS WAR

4—A plain statement that German war on Czechoslovakia was certain to bring the Western democracies into action against Germany ultimately if not immediately.

The message to Hitler, who [illegible] today is to address the entire Reich" was sent before the French statesmen left London and shortly after President Roosevelt's appeal to the Fuehrer was delivered.

Announcement that it had been sent came as Premier Daladier, Foreign Minister Bonnet and Ambassador Charles Corbin left the prime minister's residence and before the full British cabinet session started.

Sure, It's Monday, But—:

You Can Pick Your Own Time

Time staggers on!

"Confusion time," some called it today, and what a great many others were calling it is unprintable.

Massachusetts was on Daylight Saving Time MAYBE. That is, some things were, and some things weren't and YOU had to find out which was which.

Rhode Island and Connecticut were the same way.

New Hampshire and Vermont were on the other hand, were sticking to Eastern Standard Time.

Most of Maine was on Daylight Saving Time.

CONFUSION REIGNS

[illegible]

Most Eastern industrial towns were operating with Governor Henry Horton's request that Daylight Saving Time be extended through [illegible] were.

[illegible]

Some railroads, including New York, New Haven & Hartford, ran on Eastern Standard Time. That's the line which many commuters use to travel to and from their regular tasks in Boston.

Some New York railroads, however, found themselves in the position of [illegible] Time.

Some railroads, both New York and New Haven, ran on Eastern Standard Time, but not all of their trains did so. Some trains ran on Daylight Saving Time, but not all of them did so. There was confusion worse confounded.

Most railroads, however, ran on Eastern Standard Time.

Some railroads ran on Daylight Saving Time for the convenience of commuters, but not all of their trains did so

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

Monday Morning Musings:

A Boston widow has struggled for 20 years to rear and educate her daughter . . . From childhood, the girl showed unmistakable signs of musical talent . . . which made the struggle to educate her more difficult . . . Because the mother was determined that the girl should get instruction in piano and voice . . . A sequel to the story of mother-love came a month ago . . . The daughter won a four-year scholarship in Milan, Italy.

GEORGE HOLLAND

You can imagine the family debate that followed . . . The mother memorized the war-scare dispatches from Europe . . . The daughter weighed her desire to continue her musical education against her yearning to stay at home and try to find a job to make things easier for her mother . . . The final decision was that the girl should accept the scholarship, and two weeks ago she sailed for Italy.

And [illegible] sailed [illegible] Lady Mendl . . .

Now the [illegible] Europe and the war-scare [illegible] more menacingly than ever . . . The mother wants her daughter to come home . . . But the family purse [illegible] for that one-way passage to Italy.

It occurred to your reporter that the case is worth the attention of some Boston patron of the arts . . . They say the girl has a grand voice . . . If Europe goes berserk again this time, it seems too much to add constant worry about her daughter to the hard-working mother's struggle with life . . . And they do have scholarships in America.

More Musing:

Having met another famous owner of race horses, Sam Riddle of Dr[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of these days part of the [illegible] as Jack Keene, Jo[illegible] Gregg, Abe Waxman, Ben Carroll and Jeffrey [illegible] the [illegible] partners.

But for horse players, Mr. Riddle dropped a tip . . . He didn't bet on War Admiral when the champion raced unsuccessfully in the Suffolk Downs Handicap . . . War Admiral was not in the pink of condition that day . . . When the Admiral is really right for running, his sleek sides show a bit of fat.

THE SCRAWNY ARM

The Editor Says: The "strong arm" acts going on in Europe are reminding Americans of Europe's "weak arm" act.

Governments "over there" can find plenty of money for armaments to imperil what they call "world peace."

But they are unable to locate a cent to pay back to Uncle Sam what they borrowed from him AFTER their last war.

We listened to the siren song of Europe in 1917. Now we KNOW that the sirens are wolves—and debt-defaulters.

WE ARE NOT GOING OVER THERE—and THEY SHALL NOT COME OVER HERE! That is the opinion and determination of the overwhelming majority of the American people.

NEW ENGLAND is grateful for the many offers of financial assistance that have been received from individuals and agencies interested in the speedy rehabilitation of areas devastated by the hurricane and floods.

Highways destroyed, industrial and residential property seriously damaged and thousands homeless, we shall require millions of dollars for reconstruction.

Necessary indeed is today's meeting of WPA National Administrator Harry L. Hopkins with the governors of our six States.

In the past we have contributed generously to all parts of the country where there were suffering and need.

Now it is good to know that our kindness is being returned.

TREE DISPOSALS puzzle many cities and towns; [illegible] of [illegible] of wood being carried to [illegible] to be burned.

This is wasteful and foolish. Fires in open fields benefit nobody. But [illegible] stoves would make life comfortable for [illegible] during the approaching winter.

WHY NOT INVITE JOBLESS MEN TO BRING SAWS AND AXES AND TO CUT FALLEN TREES INTO STOVE LENGTHS FOR THE HOMES?

Cities and towns could then transport the wood to the men's cellars.

JOHN T. CUSHING

An able newspaper man, a respected citizen, a good American. These phrases sum up, although inadequately, the career and personality of John Thayer Cushing, newspaper publisher, whose death Saturday at the age of 51 has shocked his friends and business associates.

Descended from old New England stock, Mr. Cushing spent the greater part of his life in this section of the country and was particularly identified with newspaper operations in Boston.

In 1931 he became publisher of the Boston Daily Record, which advanced steadily under his forceful hand. Early this year he also became publisher of the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser. Recently he was with the general management of the Hearst newspapers.

Mr. Cushing was a thorough representative of fundamental principles of American business, as shown by his keen initiative, efficient handling of weighty professional problems and firm belief in the future of the country, regardless of temporary economic troubles.

A promise, to him, was a personal bond. Like many other men of strong nature and inward force, he was outwardly retiring and modest as to his part in the affairs of men.

He loved his native New England. He took pride in being [illegible] in family traditions and in his own career. He showed [illegible] great strength of the life he lived to such good purpose.

Hot Jai Alai Invades America

By EDWIN C. HILL

[illegible]

TAKING LATIN bravura for what it is, Jai Alai is the one game which [illegible] matches that calls [illegible] temperament. It is [illegible] and if a ball hits you on the head you are [illegible] dead. Mike Jacobs et al bringing the game to the Hippodrome are [illegible] and New York the [illegible] of paprika it has [illegible] in a long time.

It is [illegible] game for [illegible] the [illegible] of any kind [illegible] game in fact and like [illegible] was confined to a few [illegible]. It is of Basque origin, [illegible] Havana, where it comes to New York is now its world [illegible].

It was taken to Chicago in 1929, but it made the town so gamboling crazy the district attorney had to stop it.

IT IS MAGNIFIED and murderous [illegible] played on a concrete court 210 by 38 feet, the target at each end being a 36-foot square of concrete, with the small, hard rubber ball shot the length of the court from the player's racquet or cesta.

The cesta, made of closely woven bamboo and strapped to the player's wrist, is from two to three feet long and shaped like a Chinese finger nail. In it, they catch the ball, and with the forearm rather thus extended to nearly six feet they get a swing which delivers the ball at almost bullet speed.

Members of Cuban teams previously brought to Miami and Chicago were paid from $150 to $200 a month each, with all living expenses. In the room of each player was a little shelf on which was enshrined the player's personal saint. Each player always wears around his neck a small gold likeness of his saint, held by a gold chain. If this chain breaks there is no worse disaster for a player, aside from being hit on the head by the ball.

Labat Menos is the only player who ever survived this accident. He was three months in a hospital, playing again thereafter with a steel plate, held by a steel strap, covering a hole in his temple.

The customers are protected by a steel mesh making a cage of the arena, which the Czechs could use for a border defense against tanks. Taking concrete court, walls, cage and all, it costs about $100,000 to ready a Jai Alai court.

Naturally the Basques and Spaniards put a touch of off-stage imagination into the game. Those bullet-speed balls, for instance, are highly dramatized, thus: the inner core is made of dried calf's entrails and the thing to do is to find a calf which is the offspring of a famous fighting bull.

THEY use cotton, also, in packing the ball and they do say the best ball-makers use nothing but gun cotton. Each ball has to be re-covered after each game, with the inner covering of kidskin and the outer covering of goatskin both replaced.

The great Epifano of Havana is the Stradivarius of Jai Alai balls, similarly esteemed in Cuba. His son, virtually born on a Jai Alai court and strapped to a cesta at the age of six became the Babe Ruth of Jai Alai.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

THIS IS BASEBALL'S biggest semester and it's due to the recession and depression of five years ago. When the caddy masters started to give the boys to [illegible] there was nothing for the kids to do but go back to baseball.

A KID could pick up a couple of plunks of the realm in a golf afternoon.

THERE'S A WORLD series starting soon and it would be a fine thing if there were ten thousand kids in there rooting for one side or another. Remember an important detail about golf: When a kid caddied he saw what was going on. And he got paid for it. There has been some pretty bad golf played. But, good or bad, the kid saw it.

WHAT A WORLD series game it would be if all the spectators were under sixteen years instead of over it.

YOU'D HEAR some yelling you could can for future use. It would be the roar of artillery hub to hub.

HOW ABOUT playing one like that just for the kids? We guarantee that this would be one loaf of bread on the waters that would come back with currants in it.

Pro Football Consoles Brooklyn Fans for Time

By DAMON RUNYON

[illegible]

DAN TOPPING'S BROOKLYN DODGERS were playing Art Rooney's Pittsburgh Pirates a little professional football in Ebbets Field in Brooklyn Friday night and we went over to view the proceedings. It was like watching a parade out of a recent sports writing past.

The professional football players come from the college teams and only a couple of years ago we were reporting the gridiron doings of many of these same fellows for their various alma maters.

We used to have a lot of fun with the pro football people by telling them that the college game was faster and better than theirs and that a good college team could always beat a good pro team, which of course is not strictly true, but it served to keep up a hot argument.

What would happen is that a good college team might beat a good pro team now and then but not as often as the pros would beat the collegers if they kept at it for any length of time.

WE WANTED to see Dan Topping's Dodgers beat Art Rooney's Pirates the other night, but it turned out just the other way around. Our wish was not founded on any animus against the Pirates. It was just because we found ourself in the camp of an old friend, the Brooklyn sports fan, and if there is a fellow in this world we would like to see occasionally rewarded, it is the Brooklyn fan.

The Brooklyn sports fan, we think, pays more in loyalty and faith and money to his chosen sport fetishes than any other fan in the land, and gets less in return in the way of those small triumphs that the fan everywhere deems complete reward.

This is no one's fault. It is just the way the sports luck breaks against the Brooklyn fan. His characteristic mood has become one of pessimism but his faith never wavers.

We are referring to sports other than football, because until Friday night we had never had the opportunity of seeing how the Brooklyn fan reacts to the gridiron game. He was out 20,000 strong.

ANOTHER REASON for our visit to Ebbets Field was the presence in the game of a lad from our old home state of Colorado known as "Whizzer" White. It is said Art Rooney is paying him $15,000 to play just this one season of pro football.

Off Ebbets Field was brilliantly illuminated with flood lights and they had bands and entertainment and all in all it was quite an occasion. We must say, however, that as we moved down the ramps with the crowd after the game, we missed one old familiar note from our friend the Brooklyn fan. He was not puffing the blowpipe on the home manager.

However, we remembered that after all, professional football is still comparatively new to the Brooklyn fan, and so is the season.

Seductive Chianti Tone For Lips and Fingernails

By ARLINE GOULD

DID YOU think that in all the lovely shades and tones of the lovely note of red wines has ever been overlooked? But no! When a wine fabric itself a brown or tan or gray is worn, ringed with red the mauve-toned or grape-red must of is far from good. Certain fair, blue-tone fabrics need a warming accent.

One of the most interesting shades of the year has just appeared on that perfect makeup basket up: lipstick and nail polish. It's called "Chianti" and it's a representation that no other shade has touched so far!

It's not a very deep and dark shade as a rich wine might be, but the fitting wine itself.

We have seen this shade on a number of cafe-tired evening gowns, the skin tempered faintly, it seems, shade to shade through the many ages, and the [illegible] dark red [illegible] made of [illegible] satin.

[illegible] though there are other shades which will be [illegible] and we who [illegible] one of many shades offered [illegible] the Chianti [illegible] a warming factor of [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A SLIM dress of forest green wool has slung over it a side-draped over-skirt and half-shoulder of bark brown of the same soft, fluid fabric . . . and in spite of its earthy severity it is named for "Isis," Egyptian goddess. Probably because . . . as a fashion . . . it will be quite as ageless as a goddess. And since Isis was patroness of agriculture the rich tones of the frock are also pertinent. This is part of an unusually-designed collection in a Boston shop; for shopping information, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 1000, week-days until five, or write her at the Boston American.

CHAPTER 34

May 30th arrived, the first day of a triple holiday. Every American and Britisher who could leave Shanghai's early summer heat had committed for the races at Henli, on houseboats to Soochow or some nearby quiet resort.

Memorial Day means little in Shanghai and news was very [illegible], but a paper had to be got out.

Those of us who were condemned to remain in the city were grousing about our luck, the heat and, whatever other small annoyance we could find to blow up sufficiently to excuse our self-pity for having to work.

In the middle of that [illegible] effort of the quiet was suddenly shattered by the [illegible] shrieks of the ambulances. We stopped work and ran. The [illegible] of the factory [illegible] to see what [illegible] something serious [illegible].

MARTHA HODGE, William Hodge's talented daughter, is in "Whiteoaks," starring Ethel Barrymore, now in its second week at Plymouth, will probably run a third week.

Huston Opens Tuesday Night

Tomorrow night's opening, when you present Walter Huston and Jeanne Scarpi in "Knickerbocker Holiday" at the Shubert should be a significant one in theatrical history.

Knickerbocker Holiday was given a preliminary performance Saturday night in Hartford at Bushnell Memorial by the same company coming to Boston.

Washington Irving's "Knickerbocker Holiday" was originally for Andrew Jackson's first inauguration. In the book and music of Kurt Weill, has changed it to the story of New York when it was New Amsterdam and when Peter Stuyvesant was governor.

Huston plays "Peg Leg Peter," his first portrayal of the Dutch governor.

Kenneth Delmar has stayed the course. Percy Ames has designed the costumes. He sings settings are by S. Morgan Bell, technical director of the Shubert.

The Barrymore opens her second week in Maxwell Anderson's comedy-drama of Whiteoaks at the Plymouth Theater tonight. Indications are that she will be held over for a third week as every matinee has been sold out for the run and the first night.

The Weill will shake with laughter for another week for George Abbott's latest comedy hit, "What a Life," at the Wilbur for a fourth week.

Eddie Duchin, who leads the box office attractions next week by Mr. Abbott's style is the perfect antidote for the ravages of Hollywood, when he played here last season.

WALTER HUSTON plays peg-legged Peter Stuyvesant in his first musical play, "Knickerbocker Holiday," which opens its Boston run tomorrow night at the Shubert. A capable cast supports the famous star.

HOPE LANDIN plays a prominent role in George Abbott's comedy hit, "What a Life," which tonight opens its fourth week at the Wilbur.

Good News

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—Engineering construction awards for the week, $83,552,000, are the highest since the week of June 24, 1937, and exceed their 1937 values as reported by Engineering News-Record for the tenth consecutive week. Awards are 53 per cent above last week and 93 per cent above the corresponding 1937 week.

Prospects for continued business revival point to an increase in the sales and earnings of companies in the chemical industry, according to Poor's Industry and Investment Surveys.

Aided by sparks in freight movements and steel production, the Administrative and Research Corporation's Weekly Index of Business Activity rose to its highest level in over seven months. At 84.3 for the week ended Sept. 17, the index compares with 83.2 in the preceding week and 81.4 a year ago.

Sees Europe Again in Need Of U. S. Money

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service
Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (INS)—Shall European holdings of American securities be used to pay for the next war in Europe?

Recent events have tended to make this a crucial question.

It now appears that our own government has timed its creditor demands badly, being content for seven years to acquiesce quietly in the face of widespread defaults by old world debtors.

Already there is informal discussion about the possibility of repatriating European holdings of American securities in order to give the governments of such owners a means of paying for supplies purchased in the United States.

Bound as defaulters under the terms of the Johnson Act from new financing through the floatation of fresh capital in this market, the funds already held would afford a liberal equivalent for new orders through establishing credits against the proceeds of gold exported to sell shares at $35 an ounce.

• • •

Proceeds of gold shipments have been employed chiefly in three ways:

1. To repatriate depreciated European dollar securities at bargain prices.

2. To increase European ownership of American shares, bonds and long-term property.

3. To augment European dollar bank balances in the United States.

Back in 1935 George N. Peek, then special foreign trade adviser to the President, computed foreign ownership of American property at 20 billions at the end of 1934. As a result of the recent heavy influx of terrified flight funds, the total foreign claims over here has soared to a new peak.

In case of emergency, an effort would doubtless be made to convert these short term and long term foreign owned assets into current purchasing power for the acquisition in this country of sinews of war.

In more than four years, little has suggested itself to the use of these foreign owned American assets.

BARLETT, FRAZIER CO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 (INS)—In line with its recently announced intention of discontinuing certain phases of its business, the brokerage firm of Bartlett, Frazier Co. has transferred its commodity, grain and brokerage commission business in Chicago to Shields & Co.

Market Opening Delay

Due to the discrepancy in time occasioned by the decision of the New England states to remain on Daylight Saving Time and the shift in New York to Eastern Standard Time, opening stock market prices were not available until 11 a. m. Daylight Saving Time in this area.

The closing of the market will also be delayed by one hour with final prices being printed at 4 p. m. Daylight Saving Time.

Business Rise Sturdy Affair

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Under the "good news" caption elsewhere on this page there is an item telling of a fresh rise in business activity. The factors that brought it about are worthy of further explanation.

Of the components that make up the composite index only the steel production declined.

Commercial loans rose along with bank debits. Carloadings were higher, electrical output, power production spurted again and building contracts held even.

Does the buoyancy picture in brightening [illegible] it would seem to have enough breadth to get back around the high for the year which was in January.

Obviously a lift in metal output would be encouraging, but in the present instance other encouragements probably prevented a rise.

And when the major component begins to contribute gains as many expect, the improvement should develop into a sturdy vigorous affair.

• • •

WAR STILL FACTOR

The fear of a European conflict is still hurting the stock market, and because it is such an in again, out-again news proposition, technical market studies have very little value. For our part, we are still inclined to look for exhaustion of the decline somewhere above 120 on the Dow-Jones industrial average. But until the Czech situation is finally and unconditionally removed, we suggest readers forego attempts to catch the low.

• • •

There have been many guesses as to what a rise war would do to domestic markets. Some feel that a resolution of this would not take place. We think that it is impossible to judge in advance. There altogether too much conjecture [illegible] many uncertainties to permit an accurate estimate of what might happen.

Price Upturn In U. S. Receives Some Setback

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—In the field of prices during the past few weeks there came, first an upturn in the business cycle, beginning about June, as usual accompanied by an upturn in the average of commodity prices at wholesale.

Soon thereafter, however, came several influences. It was apparent that crops were unusually large, depressing farm prices. This depressing influence was greatly increased by the development of an acute war scare, which also affected other prices, depressing some (such as cotton) and raising others, including wheat and copper.

One aspect of the situation which [illegible] as just a part of the war scare is the decline in the yield situation. Interest rates [illegible] a primary separate influence and has had a tendency to cause lower prices in a considerable list of international commodities.

CAPACITY IS LARGE.

Although it is probably not to be considered a very decisive matter, there is also the fact that the production capacity in a good many industries is very large, so that [illegible] will not be delayed yet in short. Moreover, stocks of a good many materials [illegible] are not burdensome, to say the least.

On the other hand, business has continued to expand in activity, and this naturally tends to bring increased industrial demands for economic products. The wages and hours act has doubtless to some extent increased costs. Political developments, tending to weaken the New Deal, and greater optimism concerning business aside from war fears — tend toward firmer commodity markets.

Industrial Output Climbs to '37 Level

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board estimated today that industrial production had returned to the level of last fall although it still was far below peak 1937 averages.

Factory employment during August increased four points to 84.9 per cent of the 1923-25 level, and factory payrolls were up 8.3 points to 76.1 per cent. Further gains were predicted for September.

Boston Forum Hears Retail Trade Experts

Continued development of the human element in retail business towards deeper satisfaction of the consumer was predicted today by two speakers before the 10th annual Boston Conference on Distribution, in session at Hotel Statler.

Boston Retail Trade Board with cooperation of Harvard University, Boston University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has drawn an attendance of 350 leading business executives from all parts of the world.

The first speaker today was Mrs. Hortense Odlum, president of Bonwit Teller, one of the largest New York department stores.

Discussing the theme, "The Personality of a Retail Store," Mrs. Odlum declared that retailing, in her opinion, was the "most human" link in distribution.

"In the problem of distribution," she said, "we must consider people even more than merchandise. Safeway Stores of Oakland, Cal., as the basis for the expansion of [illegible] its very mark-up trade."

Growing regard for the economic welfare of the consumer was cited by R. W. Doe, vice president of the chain store system in the United States.

"Under the chain-store plan," said the speaker, "food goes straight from producer to consumer, eliminating the two important factors of needless expense and in-between profits.

"Under the old system, foodstuff passed through many hands before it reached the consumer and each in between handler exacted a separate profit."

H. C. Deserts Rockne; B. C. Makes Gil Glad

AFTER WATCHING DR. EDDIE ANDERSON'S Holy Cross team push Providence College around last Saturday, one is impressed with the fact that the Rockne system of football, of which Dr. Eddie is an illustrious disciple, has been tinkered with and altered until it is less the original Rockne stuff than a smidgeon and smatter of other men's methods, including some of the Doctor's own invention. We are not hearing any more about the Rockne system, which seems to have passed out of mind, except as a memory of one man's achievement.

AUSTEN LAKE

Like the immortal Rock, who in his day was quick to snatch another man's idea and, after freshening it up, employed it as his own, Dr. Eddie is toying with lateral passes, spinners and backfield arabesques. The lateral is the play which Andy Kerr of Colgate found neglected and mouldering in the football attic some years ago, and modernized into something effective by having his boys slip the ball backwards like hot pieplates at the instant of being tackled and thus keeping the action scooting off at new tangents.

The spinner is a little pirouette with the ball hugged in the bosom of a player as much and ends in a belayed lurch through the legs of another. This gem is credited to Bert Bell of Pennsylvania who now owns and operates the professional Quakers. Dr. Eddie also used a reverse play Saturday which is a hangover of Rockne at his best, in which the interference suddenly develops like an inverted parachute with the ball carrier tucked in the hollow. But he was made unhappy by the frequency with which the Providence boys wized through this barrier and nabbed the runner by the slack of his jersey or lung tenaciously by a shoelace until help arrived to wrestle the man down.

THE DOCTOR MADE ALLOWANCES for these little deficiencies, which he said were due to earliness and no previous scrimmage. For one thing his laterals, when he used them, failed because the following backs forgot to spread out fanwise, or sometimes when there were willing hands to receive them, the runner forgot to fling the ball until throttled by tacklers. Anyway, he said, he was saving his best stuff for Manhattan on October 8 and was not unmindful that a battery of spies had been sitting with binoculars levelled on his formations and jotting down stenographic reports to be carried back to rival camps.

Holy Cross is blessed with another set of lean, limber kids, full of football knack and generally close to the old Rockne standard when manpower was not measured by teams and squads but by regiments. In fact there are players at Holy Cross this autumn who might not make the regiment but who would be first string in many other surroundings. Dr. Eddie has a trio of interchangeable backs who can pick plays, kicks, pass or carry, including Ronnie Cahill, Captain Bill Osmanski and Henry Ouelette (pronounced Well-et in the Circle Francaise but Oo-let by common consent). Holy Cross has three play-pickers of national calibre, when coaches elsewhere are panting with their tongues drooling for just one who can retain a simple set of figures in his head.

IN THIS DAY AND AGE WHEN THE [illegible] of our local schools [illegible] for the prospect of [illegible] Holy Cross gets more of everything in [illegible] stuff than seems either customary or modest. But football [illegible] as was the case in Dr. Eddie's student [illegible] at Notre Dame when the scouting of [illegible] teams the newspaper [illegible] the prospect of a future in the coaching business brought the [illegible] to Seton Peel.

His handiwork is performing hard stretching at Coby on Friday but if it doesn't come apart at the seams Lefty can look to defend a good record.

Lew is Maine's own as Dear County and the 14 Alumni come by it honestly. Starting his career as assistant Boxing Instructor Tufts has turned out a small Harrison of stars of the ring and been proud ever since.

Patty Berg Drops Clubs For Books

CHICAGO, Sept. 25 (AP) School days are ahead for Patty Berg, the nation's best woman golfer and women's golf champion.

She is to graduate from Junior College here next spring, she will put golf in the background and, in the spring, she will take a vacation to the South, as usual, before going for it with full force in the tournament season again.

This native of 20 years of age with a pig nose, a thousand freckles, short red curls and a lovely figure just can't explain why she is the new champion or why she is such a good golfer.

"This year," she said, "I guess I have just been lucky."

Call it luck if you wish but she has won 16 out of 18 tournaments in which she has competed this year.

SMALL OF STATURE

Patty is only 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 132 pounds. Her golfing duties are to "get" the ball. To her men seem to be the only ones who can hit a long ball. She says she can't hit more than 150 yards. Also she must get plenty of sound sleep, plenty of starch and lots and lots of practice.

In playing golf she says the secret of her success was started to play when she was 11 years old.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. The Cubs and Pirates are still neck-and-neck like two sweeties at Roseland. Giants, Reds and Cards are out near the coast guard in a north-easter. Over in Philly the two teams have lost 194 games between 'em. Baseball has the same social standing in Philly as a set of cheap cuff-links. The Yanks are like a fellow losing without bail. They don't realize any fun. But they own the pool.

We don't pick the Pirates to win even if Bob Considine said we did. But we do claim that they are just as good as the Yanks in a short series. Thirty years ago we discovered that the game was never over until the bartender bore down on your credit.

An ambidextrous pitcher is a discovery who wins so many games with his right arm he has to sign his new contract with his left. The kids are going for baseball again because the depression has chased them off the links. Only a married man can get a caddy job.

Harvard Changes Football Policy ¦ Brown Powerful Foe as Starter

By JACK CONWAY

THERE WILL BE 14 lettermen on Tuss McLaughry's Brown football team that will oppose Harvard at the Stadium on Saturday. This condition should result in a real test for Dick Harlow's Crimson team.

Mr. Boston

In meeting a powerful eleven like Brown in its opening gridiron clash, Harvard is departing from its policy of taking on weak opposition in its early games. Under the new system, Harvard should be better able to show good football when it clashes with its leading opponents.

College football teams that take on third and fourth rate elevens early in the season are slow in developing. There is a tendency for the so-called star team to take things easy, and get careless. Even in those cases where it plays at the top of its game the opposition is so weak that very little benefit is gained by the gridiron clash.

Over at Cambridge Dick Harlow has been putting his squad through strenuous drills. The Harvard coach has been very careful as to what words of praise he has used about his eleven. He would rather play them down at this period of the season, and later permit them by their own deeds in actual games prove how good they are.

It is my opinion Harvard will have one of the most powerful football teams in the East. Harlow got his system firmly established at Cambridge last season, and its high qualities were proved in the Princeton and Yale games.

It is Harlow's ambition to have his Crimson team going on high when it meets Dartmouth. Last fall the hopes of Harlow and his aides were high before the Dartmouth game, but they were crashed to earth. Harvard then rallied, and finished its season in a blaze of glory.

Boston College Off to Flying Start

COACH GIL DOBIE released some of his tremendous football power at University Heights as Boston College crushed Canisius, 63 to 12.

Dobie has ironed out most of the difficulties he had at Boston College last fall, and it looks as though the fellow is going places with his eleven this year.

Boston College has an abundance of excellent football material, and it certainly proved against Canisius that it intends to use it to the greatest possible advantage.

Ira Jivilekian of Malden came out of the Boston College-Canisius game as the hero. In addition to his brilliant 73-yard run for a touchdown in the second period, the Malden youngster proved he is an accurate passer. His passes to Dan McFadden and Vito Ananis gave the Eagles much yardage.

War Admiral to Race at Narragansett

WHEN AT Rockingham Park last Saturday as the guest of Tom McKoy and Lou Smith, Samuel Riddle stated he would bring War Admiral and other members of his racing stable back to New England to race at the Narragansett meeting. War Admiral is eligible to compete in several of the big stake races at the Rhode Island track.

Riddle told friends it is unlikely that War Admiral, Stagehand and Seabiscuit will clash this year. The famous owner of thoroughbreds considers War Admiral a much better horse than either Stagehand or Seabiscuit.

Riddle says he has been accorded splendid treatment by the owners of Suffolk Downs, Rockingham Park and Narragansett Park, and that he will always look forward with a feeling of happiness to racing his horses here.

Random Shots at Target

THE ROCKINGHAM PARK handle of $310,693 on Saturday was considered high in view of the fact thousands of motorists couldn't make the trip to the races . . . While the roads near Rockingham Park are open, many of the race goers live at spots which were hard hit by the hurricane . . . The handle on last Thursday, the day following the hurricane, was $136,000, while that on Friday was $163,000 . . . The track lost money on Thursday and Friday, but Lou Smith was anxious to keep faith with the horsemen and public and stage his regular cards . . . "Gone With the Wind," is one of the records now being used at Rockingham Park.

Search made the field in the Bennington Stakes for two-year-olds look rather weak as he went on to win by seven lengths . . . In a previous start at Rockingham, Search stepped into a hole, and stumbled . . . Even though most of the rail birds had this information, they permitted Search to leave the post at 7 to 1 in the betting.

The dead heat between Wise Prince and Natty Boy was one of the most thrilling races staged in New England this year . . . Natty Boy, which went out in the lead at the start of the six-furlong dash, surprised race goers by the stout hearted manner in which he held on after Wise Prince caught up with him.

Matchmaker "Rip" Valenti of the Geodwin A. C. is trying to sign Al McCoy, New England heavyweight champion, and Jack Dempsey's "Red" Burman of Chicago.

Lou Brouillard's plans for three bouts in Europe may be prevented by the war crisis in Europe.

The all-American team of the most popular players in baseball was completed today with the selection of five pitchers in the nationwide voting contest, in which fans, from coast to coast, named their favorites in each position.

Lefty Grove

The hurlers for this mythical honor team listed in the order in which baseball followers ranked them are: Ruffing, Yankees; Hubbell, Giants; Vander Meer, Reds; Grove, Red Sox, and Bridges of the Tigers.

Thus one of the catchiest sidelight features of the current baseball season comes to a close. Let the arguments start where they will.

The poll stretched out over nine weeks and was sponsored by the Kellogg Cereal Company. Each of the players named above was, or will be, presented with a new car by Kellogg's, while the fans who participated shared in weekly money prizes.

The contest was not based upon a player's ability, but solely upon his popularity with baseball followers. This provided a new type of all-American selection.

Charley Gehringer of the Tigers can be hailed as the most popular player in baseball. He won the second base job with 74 per cent of the votes cast. Ducky Medwick of the Cards polled 63 per cent of the left field votes, while Joe DiMaggio of the Yanks ran away with the center field position with 61 per cent.

There was a battle within a battle in the All-American poll, the American League versus the National League for placing the most players. The junior circuit took these honors nine positions to four. The team to carry off the most autos was the Yankees. This was natural, due to their domination of the baseball world.

MATERIAL GREAT AT B. C.

As the National League race enters the final week, the Pirates and Cubs are the lone contenders for the flag, which may be decided in Chicago . . . The Bees staged a nice comeback by taking both ends of yesterday's twin bill from the Giants . . . Possibly Boston College is playing a suicide schedule but you can't get away from the fact that Dobie has the material to go through—If it is properly schooled against aerial attacks . . . Bob Tilden, the former Brookline High track man, who is an Alabama alumnus, got a great kick out of the 'Bama-Trojan game. Bob is at the Hillcrest Sanatorium, Tuscon, Ariz., fighting to score a K. O. over Kid T. B. . . . Russ Lawry will be lost to the Terriers for some weeks. He emerged from Saturday's scrimmage against the Freshmen with a displaced cartilage . . . There isn't a player in either major league that's half as much entitled to the most valuable player award as Joe Cronin. Without Joe's steadying influence, his fight and batting, the Red Sox would have been sunk without a trace . . . "Duke" Albruzzi, the Rhode Island State sophomore back, is headed for gridiron fame. If his mates can shake him loose at the Crusader scrimmage line next Saturday, "Duke" will give Holy Cross a work out . . . Patty Berg chipped and putted her way to the Women's National championship. Patty won ten out of the thirteen major tournaments she played in this season . . . Coach Biff Jones, who is now at Nebraska, has never lost an opening game but for the setback his Cornhuskers gave Minnesota a year ago, Bernie Bierman is gunning for the former West Point mentor . . . Art Keene, a Memphis boy, is sparking Vanderbilt and the Old Gold and Black is a contender for runner up honors in the Southern conference . . . Alabama is an odds on favorite to cop the crown, for the 'Bamas have one of, if not the best elevens in the country . . . Donald Budge will turn pro and tour the country this winter with Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry . . . Harry Hughes has been coaching football at Colorado State College for 28 years. What, no alumni at Colorado Aggies? . . . Elbie Fletcher put his best foot forward yesterday much to the delight of his Milton friends. He knocked in the winning run in the first game and scored the deciding tally in the night cap . . . "Buddy" Banker, Tulane back, aspires to the honors his brother Bill received while playing for the Green Wave but he lost prestige when the "Greenies" were beaten by Clemson . . . Alabama has Frank Thomas, its coach, tied up through 1944. GRIMES.

Bees Idle Today; Will Face Phils Tomorrow

Casey Stengel's Bees win a well deserved rest today after their double Sabbath victory over Bill Terry's New York Giants.

The off-day is quite accidental, though, in view of the fact that the Phillies were scheduled to open their final Boston series of the year this p. m.

Inability to travel because of bad railroad conditions, resulted in the authorities pushing the game ahead for a doubleheader tomorrow.

The Phillies are in New York today and will come over by boat this evening.

And those Phils had better be at their best after the baseball the Bees showed yesterday.

It may have been the fact that they were celebrating Elbie Fletcher Day, but whatever it was, those Giants thought they were up against league leaders.

Sox Face Yanks In Final Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 26—The Boston Red Sox, who are now playing the best ball in the American League, remained over in New York today to play off the 2 to 2 tie in the Sabbath nightcap.

That old Yankee jinx in the Stadium seems to have disappeared as the Croninmen now have two decisions over the champs and a win today will give them a clean sweep of the series.

Emerson Dickman gets the nod and he will oppose Lefty Gomez.

Regardless of the outcome, second place is not at stake for the Hose now sport a two and one half game lead over the Indians.

Yanks 13-5 Choice To Whip Pirates

Football situation: One and all can watch out for Alabama, particularly Louisiana State. Washington not only made us look pretty bad, but feel pretty sick. We really thought those huskies were coming East with their guns loaded.

Another team you can keep your eyes on is Clemson. You don't bowl over teams like Tulane for nothing—even in openers. Wichita was the prize fall down of the little schools which set out to make their big brothers look bad.

California pinned back St. Mary's ears and may turn out to be the best team on the Coast. West Virginia tried hard against Pitt, but just couldn't make it.

It's been three days now since we've had a new candidate for the job of managing the Brooklyn Dodgers . . . Francis Wallace, the football expert, says Stebbins of Pitt will be an even greater player than his All-America teammate, Marshall Goldberg.

Marshall Goldberg

Vic Turrou, one of George Washington's crack backfield prospects, is a son of Leon Turrou, the former "G" man who was prominent in rounding up the German spies . . . Jack Doyle will quote you 13 to 5 against the Pirates and only 1 to 3 against the Yanks.

Connie Mack never goes near the Athletic dugout in Philly until five minutes before the game starts and Pie Traynor doesn't show on the Pirate bench until just before hostilities open . . . It's just an old superstition, boys.

You needn't pity the poor six-day bike riders . . . For instance, the Canadian Peden brothers clean up $30,000 a year between them and when you recall that there are not more than 15 races a year you can see what kind of potatoes that is.

Bob Pastor

Bob Pastor's dad is suing him for a part of his ring earnings . . . The largest man on Alabama's grid squad is also the youngest.

Lowell Textile Breaks Losing Grid Streak

By Associated Press

Quiet, please! Hapless Lowell Textile has won its first football victory since October 5, 1935.

After 22 consecutive defeats—five short of Hobart College's string of 27 straight ending in 1931—the mill men finally beat the University of New Hampshire Saturday, 20-0.

Rusty Yarnell

Textile has been victoryless ever since beating American International, 20-7, in the second game of the 1935 season.

"Our beating New Hampshire was on the whole unintentional, explained Waldo "Rusty" Yarnell, Lowell coach for the past 12 years.

"The boys even fooled me. I was in a daze for a couple of hours—just like the rest of the city. We just can't figure out whether New Hampshire is really that bad or whether we actually have something ourselves."

Yarnall, a former University of Vermont player, admits he's "afraid" of only one thing—a punch in the nose from George Sauer, the former Nebraska star who coaches New Hampshire, the next time they meet.

"You see," he explained, "just to make it worse I went over to Sauer before the game and asked him to take it easy after the third or fourth touchdown because we have a tough schedule the rest of the year and have only 16 players we can use.

"I really meant it because we haven't taken a game from New Hampshire in eight years—ever since we've been playing 'em—and I figured it was going to be the same old story.

"I feel self-conscious about it now, but I was really sincere, and I'm just as surprised as George. I hope he understands."

Lowell's chief difficulty through the lean years has been the small size of its squads. This year's numbers only 24, and is limited, because of heavy classroom work, to only 45 minutes daily practice.

"We don't offer any football scholarships," the coach explained, "and we don't get Lowell boys here any more because the big colleges all grab 'em off."

Street Fourth Managerial Victim

Gabby Surprised By Move

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26 (AP)—Gabby Street's dismissal as manager of the St. Louis Browns was viewed by fans today as the start of a "new deal" the American League team's owners have been talking about.

The "Old Sarge," a prominent baseball figure for 30 years, was told his services would not be needed after the present season following the Browns' double victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

President Donald L. Barnes, in a brief statement, said Street had "served the club faithfully and I believe he has done as well with the club as anyone could have."

"But," he added, "I believe it is necessary to engage a new manager for 1939."

There was no indication of Street's successor.

Gabby appeared surprised by the announcement. He said the news was "unexpected."

So, in Gabby's dismissal, loyal fans see an attempt to improve the 1939 Browns "from the top down."

Departure of the 56-year-old Street means there will be two new faces in managerial roles here next year. Two weeks ago Sam Breadon, owner of the Cardinals, fired Frankie Frisch, who succeeded Street as the Redbirds' pilot in midseason, 1933.

EAGLES TOP GIANTS

Tech Sports to Open Tomorrow

The reopening of M. I. T. will signalize the start of the fall season for Beaver athletes, with cross country and soccer candidates due to report tomorrow afternoon to Coaches Oscar Hedlund and Malcolm Goldie.

Although the crew will not, of course, have any races this fall, Coach Cedric Valentine will also sound the clarion call for all interested athletes to report at the Tech quarters tomorrow night. Early morning sessions will start at once. There will be the usual field day races for the freshman and sophomore classes, and this means plenty of work for the lower classmen.

Already more than 50 members of the class of 1942 have stated that they will sign up for crew, the early start being due to Tech's freshman camp program, held over the week-end. Pat Manning reports that there is an abundance of husky material on deck.

Other Tech sports will report within a week or two. There will be freshman and sophomore class football teams, this football game being the highlight of the annual lower class struggle. At least when the athletes can avoid the usual egg and fruit hurling that punctuates these hectic affairs.

BEAUMONT CHAMPS

BEAUMONT, Tex., Sept. 26 (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters became Texas League champions by defeating San Antonio 3 to 2 in the final playoff round.

Cubs, Pirates Clash In Crucial Series

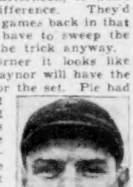
The Giants and Reds are out of the race; Hank Greenberg's home-run record chances are dying; the Yanks keep on looking more like chumps than champs, and old Sarge Gabby Street has his honorable discharge papers from the St. Louis Browns.

But all that's only incidental today.

Right now, it's the calm before the storm. The Cubs and Pirates tangle tomorrow in the start of a three-game "sudden death" series—and there you have your National League pennant, all wrapped up and addressed to the winner.

There's nothing on today's two-game big league program to take any attention from it. Even if the Cubs drop a decision to the Cardinals this afternoon, it won't make much difference. They'd still be only 2½ games back in that case, and they have to sweep the series to turn the trick anyway.

From this corner it looks like peaceful Pie Traynor will have the pitching edge for the set. Pie had to use only Red the Rosebud Lucas to top his old cousins, the Reds, 5-3, yesterday, while Gabby Hartnett led with one-half of his cub pair of aces, Clay Bryant, in whipping the Cardinals, 7-2.



"Pie" Traynor

Thus, the Bucs will have their entire staff, headed by Jim Tobin, Bob Klinger, Cy Blanton and Russ Bauers, to work in that order, each with four or more days' rest.

But since none of these elbowers show a better-than-.500 average in the ten wins the Bucs have scored over the Cubs in their 19 meetings to date, you can write your own ticket. It's Bill Lee's turn to go against the Cards for the Cubs today, but Gabby may decide to hold him off to open against the Bucs. Louisiana Bill boasts four wins over the Pirates this season without a loss. He's shut them out twice and has given them just ten runs in 42 innings.

Gals Only!

New Way to Reduce

ELGIN, Ill., Sept. 26 (INS)—Frank "Big Boy" Breen lost 15 pounds as he pitched 1267 ringers in five hours to set a new world's amateur horseshoe pitching endurance record.

Breen, whose feat was officially recorded by the Amateur Athletic Union, beat the record of 942 ringers set by Carl Johnson of Sioux City, Iowa, in 1932.

Ferebee Off Again

Ahead of Schedule in $100,000 Jaunt

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 26 (INS)—Former skeptics in Los Angeles and Phoenix today retained vivid memories of a veritable Hercules of the links as J. Smith Ferebee continued his cross-country golf marathon to New York on a $100,000 wager.

The young Chicago broker was well ahead of his schedule in the bet with Fred Tuerk of Chicago that he could play 600 holes, each 18 scored under 100 with all putts holed out, by Wednesday evening in New York after starting in Los Angeles yesterday.

Using luminous ball and flashlights to play the first two holes after starting in Los Angeles at 5 a. m., Ferebee sprinted from hole to hole and averaged 87½ strokes for each 18-hole round.

By 9:25 a. m. the strong man of golf had completed his schedule of 72 holes, but since he had 24 extra holes to make up to complete the total of 600 by Wednesday night, he decided to acquire some of them there.

J. SMITH FEREBEE

The additional holes acquired, Ferebee took a quick shower and was rushed to an airport in a police car to the chartered airplane carrying him across the country, taking off at 10:30 a. m. after having played 84 holes in 5 hours and 9 minutes. He required 406 strokes.

The temperature was around 100 degrees during most of the 5 hours and 40 minutes Ferebee dashed around the Phoenix municipal links yesterday afternoon to run up a score of 370 strokes for 81 holes.

He used a flashlight to follow the ball when completing the last nine. Caddies and admirers found it an exhausting struggle to keep pace with the young Chicagoan.
